

Project Update - Friends of the Central Highlands, Vietnam Inc.

J. Harlowe Reporting:

May 2011

FoCHVN, Inc. is sponsoring two tribal girls to learn the art of hand weaving traditional cloth patterns which will later be used to make custom items identified to a tribal association by the pattern.

This work is also being done by machines in the coastal cities, but this is the only artist way.

The girls train 8 hours a day. They live and sleep and eat in this room. But if they learn this craft carefully they will have a lifetime of employment.

The length of cloth will take over a week to fabricate

The three photos on this page show how the girls are strapped into the traditional weaving rig, use their feet to tighten the cloth and have a back-belt to help steady them in their work
